

The Caproni Bergamasca AP 1 was an Italian attack aircraft of the Second World War, in service from 1936 until the late 1940s. The aircraft was manned by a crew of two comprising a pilot and an observer/gunner seated in tandem. Powered by a single Piaggio XI RC 35 radial piston engine rated at 895 hp the AP 1 had a top speed of 242 mph and a typical range of 1100 km.

File name: MN_CB_AP-1.zip

File Size: 1 MB

Image Gallery:Click on the thumbnails to enlarge

{gallery}AP1{/gallery}